When I invited Drs Cesar and Margaret Boguszewski (1) as guest editors of the AE&M special issue on “Growth, Growth hormone and related disorders” I was absolutely confident about the outcome. In fact, due to their international expertise in the field, they gathered an outstanding team of experts who contributed with excellent articles. I heartily thank the invited editors as well as all colleagues who contributed with their precious time and knowledge to enrich this last 2019 issue of our Journal.
