

Comparative analysis of options for organizing internet traffic exchange in territorially distributed communication networks - Review 3

ROUND 3

Anonymous

Reviewer

Recommendation: Accept

Date: Jun11, 2024

Comments:

I only have one recommendation for adjusting the text, follows:

For example, SpaceX and OneWeb, which have invested in providing internet services via LEO satellites (Pessoa Filho 2021), also need to use Internet Exchange Points (IXes) in their Starlink and OneWeb satellite networks as connection points to other networks to exchange traffic. This allows network users to directly connect to Starlink and OneWeb through these IXes.

Disclaimer

The content of the peer review report is the full copy of the reviewers' comments. Typing and punctuation errors are not edited.